

Third Party Program Review

K logix partners with customers to identify key areas to improve the maturity of the current third-party cyber risk management program.

K logix experts review relevant documentation and interview client's stakeholders. The focus of these interviews is on the customer's ability to identify third parties, collect information from third parties, validate answers, analyze responses, work with third parties on remediation, and monitor for changes. Workshops, policy development, and even the development of new third-party risk questionnaires may be included. Through aligning the interviews, workshops, and content development, customers gain an improved understanding of their third-party cyber risk profile and clearly identify improvements that may be needed.
